

Verklaringen

A rectangle is shown, divided into several regions by its diagonals and lines connecting the midpoints of opposite sides. The regions include a central square and several triangles of different sizes.

